

Local Assistant to the Fire Commissioner (LAFC) Introductory Course (Online Course)

The Office of the Fire Commissioner is now offering the online Local Assistant to the Fire Commissioner (LAFC) Introductory Course to the Fire Service every month!

This course is available to fire service staff at no cost.

The LAFC Introductory Course was created with the following course objectives:

- To give all new LAFC a basic understanding of what their responsibilities are as designates of the Fire Commissioner, and how to become a more effective LAFC.
- To refresh current LAFC who are committed to keeping their skills up to date.
- To provide basic information to any fire service member who may be interested in becoming an LAFC.

*Completing this course does not mean that you will automatically become an LAFC. If you are interested in becoming an LAFC officer please refer to Part I, Section 6 of the Fire Services Act, and speak to the OFC Fire Service Advisor in your area.

The OFC will keep a database of those who successfully complete this course, and a certificate will be issued to the successful participants. The course includes a survey for each participant; we encourage your feedback so that we can maximize the benefit of this new service.

Please see the OFC Calendar of Events for scheduled courses and contact the Office of the Fire Commissioner to register for the next session that is convenient for you.
